

UPDATE for the Community

LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

March was a turbulent month for the health care industry as the American Health Care Act (ACHA) was introduced and then withdrawn from Congress. Discussion of the bill dominated the news, and there are rumblings that a second attempt to repeal the Affordable Care Act (ACA) may be made soon.

No matter where you stand on the political spectrum, the reality is that no health care plan will resolve the nation's health care crisis without first lowering the cost of care. The AHCA – like the ACA – focuses primarily on insurance coverage. But coverage will not be affordable until health care is affordable – which means the Alliance's mission remains vitally important. Care Transitions Conference to be held on May 10

On Wednesday, May 10, 2017, join health and human services providers from throughout the Puget Sound region to discuss patient- and family-centered transitions of care in Des Moines, WA

The conference continues a community conversation that began in 2012 when south King County hospital and home health care administrators, discharge planners, nurses, physicians, pharmacists, policymakers, social service providers, community leaders, and consumers met to discuss new ways to work together to decrease avoidable hospital admissions. Readmissions contribute significantly to the cost of health care—costs borne by insurance companies, hospitals, taxpayers (Medicaid and Medicare), patients, and families.

This sixth annual conference is open to anyone engaged in improving health care quality and transitions of care. Stakeholders in King, Snohomish, Pierce, and Kitsap counties are particularly encouraged to participate. Based upon previous participation, it is anticipated that 300 individuals will attend the 2017 conference, representing more than 75 organizations. Register for the conference.

Register for the annual Northwest Patient Safety Conference on May 11

The 15th Annual Northwest Patient Safety Conference is a full day event being held in SeaTac on May 11, and featuring keynote speaker David Classen, CMIO of Pascal Metrics, and plenary speaker, Dorothy Teeter, director of the Washington State Healthcare Authority. The only comprehensive patient safety event in the Northwest, this conference brings together hundreds of regional health care leaders. Learn more and register for the conference.
